The King makes a brief appearance

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

A second public hearing has been scheduled for January 27 on a request for Special Exception zoning of the 19-acre Camp Onward property camp in Bay St. Louis.

Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission chairman Les Fillingame reported Special Exception zoning would allow a use of a property in a zoned area not allowed otherwise.

He added, it was not explained to the commission's satisfaction the exact intent of use for the property. The requesting parties are to bring additional information to the second hearing.

The Camp Onward property is located at 972 S. Beach Boulevard and extends northwest to Railroad Avenue.

The property contains a main house (built 1840), caretaker's cottage, pool and pool house, bathhouses, four 16-bed cabins and a lodge with commercial kitchen.

The property has been for sale for the past two years and is listed by Coldwell Banker-Nell Frisbie Realtors at $365,000.

According to Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre,

Bay Council eyes extended gaming

BY LIZ HAAS

Bay St. Louis gaming attorney Donald Rafferty introduced research on sports pools or race books within a casino establishment at the January 7 city council meeting.

Rafferty cited Section 75-76-89 of the Mississippi Code Annotated of 1972 as amended, which is permission required to establish sports pool or race pool on premises at licensed establishment.

Rafferty said Section 2 reads that a person having a gaming license may establish a sports pool or race book on their pre-misses after receiving permission from the executive director of the State Gaming Commission.

Mayor Eddie Favre was instructed to contact Casino Magic to see if they are interested.

"I will contact them at the first of the week, and if this is something that they want, the Council may try to encourage the legislature to encourage the Gaming Commission," said Favre.

CURBSIDE RECYCLING
The Council discussed a proposal by Gulf Coast Recycling to implement a curbside recycling program in Bay St. Louis.

The proposal would cost $1.65 per customer per month. Favre said the program will reach about 3,000 households and small commercial establishments.

GCR would provide the baskets and market what they pick up. They will train the community through an educational program to promote recycling in the community.

Favre suggested a five-

Hancock has most lenient academic exemption policy

BY LIZ HAAS

A recent complaint by volunteer instructor John Kolodziej about Hancock High School's exemption policy prompted the following comparison among schools within the local area.

Hancock has an examination exemption policy geared to improve student attendance, according to a spokesman.

It states that students in grades 7 to 12 may be exempt from any examination in a class where they have a C grade point average or better, no more than two days absences prior to the day of the exam and master 90% of basic course skill requirements.

"We're trying to get the students to school on a daily basis to learn so they do not miss out on the learning process," said Eddie Danzey, assistant superintendent.

"Our belief is that if we can get the students to school, then we can do what it takes to motivate them to learn the skills they need to learn," said David Kopf, Hancock High School principal.

"It is a good policy that rewards students who have not received recognition in the past," said Kopf.

Kopf said that good attendance is a main ingredient in academic excellence.

The policy was approved by the school board and has been in effect for the past two years.

ST. STANISLAUS

St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis has an examination exemption policy for senior class students who meet the academic requirements and have teacher approval for final exams only on an independent class by class basis.

Kennedy reflects on 2-year tenure

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Outgoing Chamber of Commerce president Basil Kennedy feels the organization's crowning achievement is making the county a more beautiful place.

"I am most proud of the beautification committee, and the amount of progress made in cleaning up the entire county. There are a number of programs in place," he said. "Their goal is a comprehensive plan for litter control."

Under the leadership of Kennedy and executive director

Cindy Vernon, the Chamber witnessed Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Diamondhead and the county pull together to package "A Red Ribbon Christmas."

The December promotion, which was marketed regionally, was designed to keep local shoppers in the area while attracting visitors to attend various planned events.

"It is very important that the Chamber function as a county-wide organization, with all of in the summer of 1991 proved to be a good one, he said, as walk-in traffic increased with the more accessible location.

The former president computerized the membership list and some of the accounting procedures, assisting Vernon in attaining the goal of operating the office like a business.

On the political side, the Chamber took a stand to keep the unit system of county government in place. Public meetings were hosted to discuss the beat vs. unit system and wastewater disposal, and a political forum was held prior to the county election.

"I have to say the Chamber is pleased with the opening of Casino Magic," said Kennedy, who feels the new gaming industry has enhanced economic growth in the area.

"The Tourism and Gaming Association has been a positive factor in the acceptance of the industry in the area."

The Chamber's education committee has coordinated activities to improve the quality of education in the area. Hancock is the first Coastal county to be designated an "America 2000" community, according to Kennedy.

America 2000 is a national program for excellence in education involving communities, government, industry and schools working together for improvement.

"All-in-all, I feel the community has developed a certain amount of pride."

Echo welcomes Haas

The Sea Coast Echo welcomes the association of new staff reporter Liz Haas.

Haas is a recent graduate of the University of Mississippi with a bachelor of arts degree in print journalism with a minor in English.

While at Ole Miss, she was a member of the Society of Professional Journalists, St. John's Parish Council, Ole Miss European Goodwill Association and was an officer of Kappa Alpha Theta.

She is a 1988 graduate of Our Lady Academy.

Haas served as a summer intern at The Sea Coast Echo in her junior year of college.

Ellis C. Cuevas, editor and publisher stated, "I am happy to have Miss Haas rejoin The Echo as a reporter."

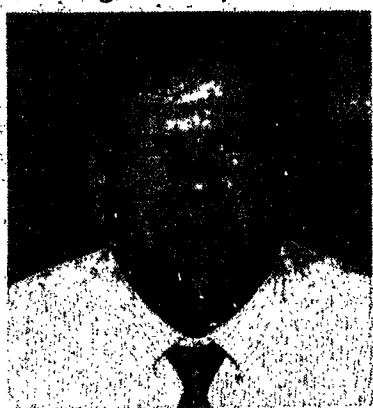

"Far too many of our younger citizens obtain an education and have to go elsewhere to pursue a career.

"As an intern she did a very good job, and I am sure her education and training will only add to The Echo's news coverage."

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael D. Haas of Bay St. Louis. Her paternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Norton Haas Sr., of Bay St. Louis; maternal grandparents are the late Earl Wingo and Mrs. Earl Wingo of Hattiesburg.

the economic units working together," said Kennedy.

"I feel we also have a good working relationship with our elected officials."

The Chamber assumed sponsorship of the annual Beachfront Festival last year, which Kennedy termed "moderately successful."

The proceeds from the event will cover the cost of a four-color brochure to promote Hancock County.

Died January 9, 1992
God saw you getting weary,
He did what he thought was best.

He came and stood beside you
And whispered come and take a rest.
You did not one farewell,
Not even a goodbye.
You were gone before we knew it.
And only God knows why.
It broke our hearts to lose you.

You did not go alone,
For a part of us went with you.
The day God called you home,
God gave us strength to bear it.

Courage to take the blow,
What it meant to lose you,
God will only know.

Reflections

On Life

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

Love is never barred

"Will there be another marriage here today?"

"Another one!" the young woman returned. "Barbara is so happy that she can't contain herself. I'm married to an inmate too; in fact, one year, one month and two weeks."

I thought I was hearing things, because we were standing outside the Angola state prison near Tunica, La. The quiet, disarming, yet chilling atmosphere of a massive penal colony wrapped itself around us, making us wish we were elsewhere.

The beaming bride-to-be bounced in decked in white with a beautiful bouquet in her hands. A brilliant smile told all of us that she was about to get into something which her heart treasured and coveted intensely.

"If I may be so bold," I tendered delicately, "what is your husband-to-be in for?"

"Rape!" she responded without hesitation. "But I love him, and I think he's going to be all right. Recently, we got his sentence reduced to 25 years. With time served, he could be out in 5 years or so."

"Mine is in for rape too!" the other young lady countered. "But it was a put-up job. From the way things look, he will be out of prison sometime next year."

As best I could, I tried to hide the stone disbelief which must have been playing up and down my face. After a few awkward moments, I resumed my skeptical questioning.

"Isn't this the height of frustration and loneliness, that your husband must stay behind bars most of the time?"

"Well, somewhat at times. But we're able to visit once a week, and sometimes we have a picnic visit during which we can have a bit of privacy."

Try as I might, I simply could not get ready for what those prison brides were telling me. I pressed further:

"There's very little quality time the two of you can spend together. Doesn't that bode ill for the future of your relationship and your marriage?"

"Not too much," explained Barbara. "He calls me and sings songs to me on the phone. I enjoy it. I find it neat that he sings to me over the phone."

Somehow, the whole thing continued to strike me as melancholy, almost depressing. Yet, I needed to remember that it was not I who was getting married, and therefore what I felt and thought did not count at all.

As a matter of fact, what did count was the flashing smile on the face of Barbara and the other prison bride. If every marriage could maintain what was evident in their faces, all marriages would be made in heaven, even if begun in prison.

Even more, another fascinating factor soon entered the picture. In the "normal" world where spouses can sometimes be secure about at least some things, marriages tend to deteriorate rapidly, grow stale, and often dissolve.

Their very security seems to dull communication, understanding and intimacy. The next step is taking one another for granted, then becoming jaded about everything, even sex.

The prison-bound brides were living examples of the very incisive observation of Jesus: "Where your treasure is, there also will your heart be" (Mt. 6: 21).

Maybe all couples need to check out prison-bound couples.

month trial period from February to June. At the end of this period, the Council can review the success of the program, make any needed changes and decide whether they should continue the program," he said.

Some councilmen expressed concern over insuring that the company will not dump the materials.

"The economics of it insure that that will not happen," said Favre.

"It won't cost us much more than we pay now, and we may be able to save money by eventually cutting the garbage pickup to one day a week," he said.

Councilman Charles Scianina, District 1, suggested the Council hold a workshop January 12, at 5 p.m. in which Penny Penrose of GCR will be invited to answer questions and work out the details of the program.

PROPERTY CLEANUP

In the public forum, Irwin Cugullu, a resident of Citizen Street in Bay St. Louis, inquired why nothing has been done about Chris Lagarde's property on the 200 block of Citizen Street.

The Council had condemned the property this past summer, declaring the partially burned house a public menace to health and safety.

At that time, the Council authorized a request for bids and received only one.

According to Favre, the bidder backed out of the bid because of fear of possible litigation.

Lagarde is alleged to be in the process of obtaining a building permit for his property.

"He tried to get a permit about a month ago but there was confusion over the details of the zoning ordinance," said the mayor.

Franya Ethridge expressed concern over the planning and zoning commission not following set guidelines.

Ethridge said a hearing was previously heard by the commission, on Casino Magic's application for a special use district. She said the commission should not hold a hearing because the application was incomplete and did not meet requirements.

Mike Cuevas, Clerk of Council, submitted the Main Street Program update to the Council for review. The program is the economic and development revitalization for the city as set up by the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

The Council approved: —the service fee of $32,776.05 from Casino Magic to the city for the month of December;

—$318,682.36 for the Docket of Claims and final payment for work on the zoning ordinance, contingent on written document of approval from attorney John Seafide;

—travel to Jackson for workshop for municipal clerk, Kay Johnson, on February 18 and 19, $56;

—nomination of Ronnie Vanney by Mayor Favre as city's voting delegate to the Mississippi Rural Water Association; —travel for Vanney and Woody Stieffel, city engineer, to a one day workshop in Gulfport for the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency;

—authorization for the Mayor and Chief of Police to close Main Street on January 19, from 9:30 to noon, for Governor Kirk Fordice's visit to designate Hancock County as an American 2000 center;

—authorization to advertise for the construction of the 600 foot platform for the AmTrak stop depot;

—advertisement of $30 for the Hancock County NAACP souvenir booklet;

—nomination by Mayor Favre of Conrad Mauffray to fill the vacancy Carl Arnold left by his resignation to the Municipal Election Commission;

—request to engage an attorney for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission complaint by a former city employee; and —request proposal to engage an outside engineer for design services on the Dunbar sidewalk project.

The Council adjourned to recess until Tuesday, January 12, at a 5 p.m. workshop.

Oyster reefs close due to rain

Reefs in conditionally approved waters of Areas 2, 3 and 4 in the Mississippi Sound closed for harvest 4 p.m. Wednesday because of rainfall. Affected areas include Pass Christian, Henderson Point, Long Beach and Cat Island reefs.

Approved waters in Area 2, which include Pass Marianne, Telegraph and Buoy reefs and the various shell keys, will remain open for harvest.

Policy

According to principal Dr. Mike Ryan, only those senior students who have maintained an A average throughout the first three quarters of the year and have an A up to the fourth quarter final status report, can achieve the academic requirements.

The teacher approval is based upon classroom behavior and attitude. It is at the discretion of each individual teacher.

Students are required to attend all classes prior to the examination they are able to skip, and an unexcused absence can put the exemption in jeopardy, according to Ryan.

The policy was established by the school administration.

"Our policy does two things: it promotes academic excellence and rewards those students who work hard, are disciplined and serve as role models," said Ryan.

Ryan said the exemption does not reach a lot of students because it is very stringent and is looked upon as an honor and privilege.

"We do not offer semester exam exemptions because we feel that half a year is not a good enough indication that the student has earned that privilege," said Ryan.

Ryan said the policy motivates the students and rewards them as well.

BAY HIGH SCHOOL

Bay Senior High School offers exam exemptions as part of its senior privilege program only.

For semester examinations, those senior students who have an 85 grade point average or better and five or less days of absences in a class are eligible to be exempt from that examination.

For the second semester, students must have an 85 average and nine or less absences in a class for the year to be exempt from a classroom exam.

The policy is not in the Bay Senior High student handbook, but was approved by the principal and superintendent as a senior privilege.

"It gives the seniors something to look forward to," said principal Roger James.

OUR LADY ACADEMY

Our Lady Academy in Bay St. Louis has an examination exemption policy for seniors only.

According to spokesman Sr. Elisa Baughman, the policy states that students must take exams in all of their required courses such as math and English.

They may be exempt from electives in yearly courses with an A for the first and third quarters and an A in the fourth quarter until the May 15 cut-off date.

For semester elective courses, the student must have an A in the third quarter and in the fourth quarter by May 15.

The policy was presented to the faculty by a senior class a few years ago and was voted into the student handbook by the school board.

"Our approach is aimed at the belief that the seniors are next door to college; and in college, they have extensive and comprehensive exams that they need the experience for and need to be prepared for the college approach," she said.

If a student can reach that point by senior year, she achieves the privilege.

"Exams are experience, practice and to insurance that our students will be capable at the college level," she said.

Baughman said, "We like high standards and feel that any lower than the required A average would diminish what we're seeking in our standards."

PASS CHRISTIAN

Pass Christian High School's exam exemption policy is based on academic achievement and attendance.

For semester examinations, students must have a C or better grade point average with no more than six absences in a class. Students are exempt from one exam per semester in the class of their choice that they meet the requirements in.

The policy was presented by the administration and teachers.

It was approved by the superintendent and Policy and Research and Development Commission, made up of students, parents and every phase of school employment.

The school Board gave final approval three years ago.

It is a district and school policy.

"We feel our policy encourages academic excellence and attendance," said principal Adrian Swanier.

COAST EPISCOPAL
Coast Episcopal High School's exam exemption policy is at the discretion of individual teachers.

The exemption is not encouraged or widely used.

"If there is an outstanding honor roll student with high quality work, the teacher may choose to exempt that student as a means of reward for high achievement," said Linda McCullough, social studies teacher and former principal.

"We believe that it is valuable for students to take finals, and we view it as part of the educational process," she said.

The policy is in the student handbook and was approved by the school board.

"We are a college preparatory school, with 99% of our students going to college, so we feel that we need to prepare them for the ins and outs of college," said McCullough.

the property had been used for the past years as a summer camp for underprivileged children.

The Special Exception zoning application is sought by Dr. Mark Maneval and Dr. Mary Ann Adam-Maneval. The property is owned by the Kingsley House Group of New Orleans.

According to Charlene Rutledge, secretary to the planning and zoning commission, the Manevals expressed an interest in operating a camp for children and possibly in the future a retreat for senior citizens.

The Manevals teach at Southern University in Mississippi. Mark Maneval holds a doctorate in physical education and Mary Ann Adam-Maneval has a doctorate in psychology. Rutledge added, "There were too many ifs and maybes. The commission told them to come back with more definite plans."

The second public hearing will be held in the Bay Catholic Elementary School cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Good news is aflow in the community with the announcement of the expansion of the Hancock County Library System's main branch building.

The $200,000 state grant, which is to be matched by local monies, is sure good in these 'crunch' times.

Our library system has really grown in recent years. Many of us can remember when it was on Court Street in a very small building not too many years ago.

The main branch of the Hancock County Library is in a beautiful building and it has been outgrown.

This will be a much needed expansion, and I am sure it will be used and appreciated by the citizens of the area for many years to come.

Expansion is expected to begin sometime in fall.

This is the election year for the City of Bay St. Louis. It seems an election was just held in Bay St. Louis, when the mayor and five councilmen were elected; but four years go by in a hurry.

The first primary is scheduled for May 4 and primary run-offs are set for May 18.

The general election will be June 8.

We have been hearing a few names mentioned as challengers to the incumbents, and will find out for sure when the qualifying deadline passes. It is my understanding the qualifying deadline is April 2.

The bad news this week was the announcement by Mason Technologies of the discharge of 67 employees at the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant at the John C. Stennis Space Center.

Many are keeping their fingers crossed that some manufacturer will locate in the massive building which is now almost unoccupied.

During the past three years only one manufacturer, AWM Enterprises Inc., which employees 12 persons, has moved into the facility.

The 85 or so, left at the Ammo Plant plus 12 are a small number of people employed compared to 1,750 a few years ago.

Maybe 1993 will bring some good news on more jobs.

Governor Kirk Fordice is scheduled to visit Hancock County on January 19 at Hancock High School and also Bay Senior High.

The governor's visit is in conjunction with the America 2000 program.

Governor Fordice is also scheduled to receive a proclamation in front of the courthouse from six fifth graders from each school, the anticipated Class of 2000.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Education Committee has been working hard on the America 2000 program.

Education is very important for our youth, as they will be the leaders of tomorrow.

Would you believe Mardi Gras is fast upon us. It is only five Sundays from now that the Krewe of Nereids is scheduled to roll down Highway 90.

Preparations for balls and parades are well underway, and it seems we may have more Mardi Gras festivities this year with the addition of the Krewe of Camelot.

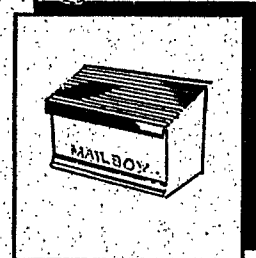

The Krewe of Camelot is scheduled to parade on Mardi Gras Day, Feb. 23, in conjunction with the Krewe of Real People.

It appears the Mardi Gras parade route in Bay St. Louis will be extended this year to include Highway 90 and will be 6.7 miles long.

The parade is to disband at Casino Magic, and a big party is to follow.

Merchants lends hand

Merchants Bank & Trust Co. Chairman of the Board Guy C. Billups Jr., left, presents a check for $1,000 to G. N. (Nicky) Creel. Creel is president of the Gulf Coast Chapter American Red Cross. The funds will assist Louisiana victims of Hurricane Andrew. An account was made available in late August for the public to assist the needy. Merchants Bank contributed a percentage of the total funds raised.

Young ballerinas deserve commendation

Dear Editor:

I would like to commend the students in The Gulf Coast Youth Ballet Ensemble for their wonderful Nutcracker performances. It was sheer pleasure to relax at home and see entertainment of this magnitude.

Their devotion to ballet, dedication to hard work, and enjoyment of the arts was evident on the face of each performer.

All who were involved in this production deserve gratitude and praise for a job well done. As for Sharon Loiacano, artistic director of the Ensemble, I can only say how grateful I am that she chose to move to the Coast and bring her talent, energy and dedication to young people in Bay St. Louis.

Sincerely,
Candy Murphy

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Second year in a row for new state Legislature

They're here! They're here! You know who. That thundering herd, otherwise known as the Mississippi Legislature.

Never, in some 35 regular sessions and a couple dozen special sessions that I've watched close up and tried to report in some fashion, have I been less able to get a feel for what kind of a Legislature to expect than this one.

For openers, this is something neither I nor anyone else has ever seen before: A newly elected Legislature coming one year after the election of a new Legislature. And, consequently, this crop of lawmakers will serve only for three years, not four.

As you recall, the seating plan of the Legislature elected in 1991 was thrown out by the federal courts after one year, and new elections ordered. The result is a turnover of more than half the lawmakers from the last four-year term.

However, the same governor, Kirk Fordice, and lieutenant governor, Eddie Briggs, elected in 1991 will still be in place. The state constitution presumes that a new Legislature comes in at the same time as the governor and provides 35 years more for the first session of a new administration.

That's not going to happen in the 1993 session. The 125-day session was held last year, and this one will be only 90 days. That poses real logistics problems.

By and large, there will be a whole set of new committees named and organized, and since there could be no pre-filed bills, the process of getting bills introduced and assigned to committee will be slowed down at least two weeks more than ordinary for 90-day sessions.

That's just the nuts and bolts side of getting the 1993 session operating. Where the whole process gets stickier is in the odd couple relationship of a strong-willed, bad-humored Republican governor and a largely inexperienced Legislature populated mostly by Democrats, with a significant influ-

A year ago, the one-time legislature had major confrontations with Fordice over a sales tax hike and a capital outlay bond bill overriding his veto on both measures. Fordice made an all-out effort in the 1992 special elections to defeat some 15 lawmakers who backed the tax hike and overrode his veto.

In only three or four instances did Fordice-backed candidates oust incumbents. And he made bitter political enemies out of those he failed to beat, providing added fodder to the tensions that already existed between the Legislature and Fordice. The new legislative elections, undergirded by the federal court's mandate to increase black representation, increased the number of blacks in the House from 21 to 32, and in the Senate from 4 to 10.

Republicans, meantime, gained four seats in the House, giving them 27, and picked up two additional seats in the Senate, for a total of 13. A half dozen of the new Republicans had been Democrats who made the switch to the GOP after the 1992 legislative session.

Some Democrats in the House are talking about organizing a Democratic Caucus as a defensive mechanism to counter the Fordice Administration using party line appeals to House Republicans but the move has not been encouraged by House Speaker Tim Ford. Presumably, the Democratic Caucus, which potentially includes 93 members would object to the Speaker giving committee chairmanships to Republicans.

For the first time in memory, both branches of the Legislature have produced a joint plan to reform the cumbersome state budget process in a move to make state agencies more accountable in setting and reaching program goals. One sidelight of the proposed reform is to substantially reduce the number of individual ("single-shot") appropriations bills.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Hancock teachers defend academic testing policy

To the Editor:

We would like to respond to a Letter to the Editor written recently by John Kolodziej about the mediocrity in the Hancock High School System.

Like many others who complain about our educational system, Kolodziej freely admits that he is on the outside. If he had to deal with the ever-changing mandates and laws regulating the school system and the average class, I am sure he would come to a better appreciation of the current system and how well it works.

The current teaching staff at Hancock High boasts some of the most educated and respected members in the field of education. Furthermore, some of the most conscientious and learned administrators preside here.

It escapes us to see how anyone outside the system could be so critical. Mr. Kolodziej, you are looking for solutions in education, but you're facing in the wrong direction.

In his worst nightmares, one could not imagine the reams of paperwork, keeping up with the latest laws, fending off constant nit-picky complaints, trying to keep peace within the ranks, not to mention keeping track of close to 2,000 students, that an average teacher deals with.

The reason the school district adopted this exemption policy is not to reward mediocrity, but to reward those who have a good attendance record. There were other criteria not mentioned in the letter, like passing 90% of the core requirements and being absent for only two days. All this at the discretion of the teacher.

Hancock High is one of the finest facilities. It is the best staffed school and has some of the finest students in the South in attendance.

This system is meeting the challenges and the needs of business here and throughout the Mississippi Gulf Coast. There are very innovative changes being ushered in for this county and I would hope the general public will give them a chance.

New Year's Eve at Casino left guests complaining

Dear Editor,

To many $42 may not seem like a lot, and if you get something in return it really isn't.

Upon learning that there were lots of tickets still on sale until 5 p.m. I went to the casino about 4 and purchased two tickets to Casino Magic's New Year's Eve "Extraordinaire" for $42. Turned out it was the worst spent New Year's Eve we've ever had and was a total fiasco!

Arriving about 7:30 p.m. we felt good about having tickets and being able to walk right in, while others without tickets were turned away.

We decided we would walk around first to take in all the glitz and glamour, have a drink or two, then join the buffet line. We heard the food would be great. Last, we would enjoy Pete Fountain, whom we love.

Our "balloon" quickly burst upon buying two drinks for $5, which were all ice, and then having no place to sit and listen to the other music provided. We then decided we would try and find the end of one of the buffet lines. By this time we were pretty hungry, along with many other folks waiting patiently their turn.

Needless to say how very disappointed we were after being in line for over an hour that most of the food was gone.

What was left was a disarray of half-eaten plates, dirty plates, used drink cups, dirty napkins lying on tables with servers and trays empty of food. It was a MESS!

No one was coming to replenish the food. This was poorly managed, badly organized with no supervision. Rude individuals were breaking into the lines and grabbing up whatever they could find.

It was obvious that when we finally would get to the food, it would be picked over or gone.

At 10:15 p.m., long before we had planned to, we left the casino, feeling we had been completely ripped off.

Sincerely,
Margaret Williamson
Diamondhead

Humane Society has given much to Waveland

Dear Editor:

As a member of the Humane Society I am deeply offended that the Mayor of Waveland is attempting to cast our society in a bad light. "The city is not responsible for paying your rent and paying your utilities (Echo 1-7-93).

Besides offering generous monetary assistance to Waveland citizens for pets' medical emergencies and spay/neuter, our group has, for about 10 years, donated many costly items to the Waveland shelter.

We actually ran the shelter when it first opened. We bought the food and the medicine. We bought all the cages, office equipment, refrigeration, heat, air conditioning, etc.

Recent purchases have been a new television and VCR for educational purposes, a police scanner so shelter personnel can stand ready when wardens are called to bring in dogs or cats. This week we bought a brand new commercial washing machine.

All this we do to make life better for the animals, and that is our gratification. But it still makes the city that Mayor Friot rules a goodly amount richer.

The attorney general did not say it was illegal for us to be housed in a public building. His opinion was that he had no problem with it as long as all charitable organizations were treated equally.

Four aldermen unanimously passed an ordinance (in Friot's absence) that would permit us back in the Civic Center, but Stella Friot ignores it, and the aldermen seem afraid to bring it up.

Aldermen also ordered the building inspector to give them figures on making the Civic Center useful again. If the building inspector did as he was ordered, we have no knowledge of it, because it did not happen at the date set by the board.

We were housed in the Civic Center, serving the City of Waveland, long before Ms. Friot was a citizen of Waveland. Perhaps we will be back in the Civic Center when she has been voted down as mayor.

Congratulations to Ward Four citizens, for they have the only alderman with the guts to speak up for the people he represents.

Blues musician Liniger featured at Diamondhead

Diamondhead Performing Arts Society presents Walter Liniger performing "Blues is the Song of the South" through the melodic sounds of harmonic, harp and guitar Sunday, Jan. 24 at 5 p.m. at Diamondhead Country Club.

Liniger has made the traditional Blues idiom his own, drawing much of his repertoire from the Mississippi Delta. Every Liniger show is a musical trip through the past, a truly enlightening experience. His style is creative. His singing is molded to the song; his instruments respond to his strong personal touch.

The old tunes evoke memories of days long ago and Liniger's interpretations put them in a unique social-historical context. Throughout this program, "Blues is the Song of the Soul," he explores, shares and interprets folk blues in his own intriguing manner. Walter Liniger fell for the

Walter Liniger

Blues when he heard his first Lightnin' Hopkins record. In 1982, he toured the United States.

Over the next two years the self-taught musician studied guitar and harmonica under masters of the Piedmont tradition.

In 1984, Liniger began his current work as an associate with the University of Mississippi's Blues Archive directing an oral history project, "The Original Down Home Blues Show," which has been syndicated with National Public Radio.

Also in 1984, he began his apprenticeship with James Son Thomas, one of the great Delta Blues players. Together the duo has appeared at most major Blues festivals in America, such as Mississippi Delta Festival, New Orleans Jazz and Heritage Festival and the World Music Institute (New York).

Walter Liniger has not only touched the hearts of American blues lovers, but has also performed for enthusiastic audiences in Europe.

Tickets for the performance are $12.50 for adults (includes one complimentary cocktail) $9.50 for children.

Send a check and self-addressed, stamped envelope to Suite 701, 443 Yacht Club Drive, Diamondhead, MS 39525 or phone 2550-6042 for further information. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Join Diamondhead Performing Arts Society for a five-star season in 1993. Season ticket membership offers a $62.50 value for $50 including one complimentary cocktail for each performance.

Tippit will be awarded a collector's set of doubloons and a $100 Savings Bond.

For more information about doubloons, contact Connie or Lenny Keel at 452-7011.

The 1993 Carnival Ball will be on Saturday, Feb. 20, and the annual Mardi Gras parade will be Sunday, Feb. 21 at 1 p.m.

Train separation blocks Bay St. Louis crossings

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Bay St. Louis railroad track crossings on Beach Boulevard to Washington Street were blocked for over one hour Saturday afternoon because of car separations incurred by emergency breaking upon a slight collision with a vehicle.

Lt. Dave Sellier, Bay St. Louis Police Department accident reconstruction specialist reported the arrest of Thomas J. Layne, 21 of Bay St. Louis for allegedly failing to yield right of way and leaving the scene of an accident.

He added, the car Layne was driving received only slight damage to the rear bumper as it crossed the Booker Street tracks north bound at approximately 12:01 p.m.

The 1 1/2-mile train, according to Sellier, went into an emergency brake situation which caused the cars to separate.

Sellier remains in charge of the investigation.

Grants available for tree planting

Applications are being accepted up to February 8 by the Mississippi Forestry Commission for tree planting grants under the U.S. Small Business Administration's National Tree Planting Program.

The grants available now are for planting projects to be carried out during the fall through spring of 1993-94.

Grant recipients must utilize small business contractors to plant the trees on land owned or controlled by state or local government and purchases must be from small businesses.

Local grant recipients are required to match the federal dollars with 45 percent of the total project cost.

To receive an application contact: Urban Forestry, Mississippi Forestry Commission, 301 North Lamar St., Suite 300, Jackson, MS 39201, (601) 359-1386.

Budget reform, however, has been talked about before around legislative halls. Only this time, however, all interested parties, including legislative fiscal leaders, State Auditor Steve Patterson and Governor Fordice, are supporting virtually the same plan.

ON PATROL

CONTROLLED SUBSTANCE

Bay St. Louis Detective Shane Corr of the Hancock County Metropolitan Drug Task Force reported the arrest of David Thompson Jr., 140 Cathy Drive, Bay St. Louis, who was in possession of four rocks of crack cocaine on December 29.

Corr stated, Bay St. Louis officer Clifton "Bubba" Malley discovered the cocaine on Thompson during a search, following arrest for disorderly conduct.

Thompson was arrested at the corner of St. Francis and Sycamore streets at 11:40 p.m. and was found to be out of jail on bond after having been arrested for three counts of sale of crack cocaine, said Corr.

He was charged with possession of a controlled substance with intent to distribute, disorderly conduct and possession of drug paraphernalia. He is presently in the Hancock County Justice Facility on a $5,000 bond.

Detective Terry Eley is in charge of the investigation.

CONTROLLED SUBSTANCE

As Robert Duvernay of Bay St. Louis was being arrested on January 1 for two counts of sale of a controlled substance, Bay St. Louis Detective Shane Corr of the Hancock County Metropolitan Drug Task Force reported, charges were also brought forth for assault with a deadly weapon.

Corr explained, officers responding to a 1:16 a.m. report of a shooting at St. Francis and Sycamore streets arrested Duvernay, 21, Bayside Apartments #35, on a warrant for sale of a controlled substance and also charged him with an alleged shooting which had just occurred.

Duvernay was released on $15,000 bond Tuesday from the Hancock County Justice Facility.

Since that time, he has been re-arrested by the Waveland Police Department for an aggravated assault charge, according to Waveland Police Chief James Varnell.

Varnell stated Waveland police arrested Duvernay on a warrant for an aggravated assault charge New Year's Eve, when he allegedly placed a gun to someone's head and cocked it, threatening injury at the Scorpio Lounge.

An affidavit was signed January 2 by the complainant, Varnell added, and Duvernay was arrested Wednesday along Old Spanish Trail in Waveland and charged with aggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

He is presently in jail on a $25,000 bond.

Tips On Writing EFFECTIVE Classified Ads

STICK TO THE FACTS

Prospective buyers need to know details, like the condition of the item for sale, the size, brand name, color and any other relevant information that would help them make a decision.

BE HONEST

Aside from being unethical, exaggerating or misinforming potential buyers won't help you make a sale, and may only serve to lose a prospective buyers' trust. Even if they come to look at what you have to sell, they'll be less likely to buy the item or trust you once they see they've been misled.

SPELL IT OUT

Abbreviations are not easily understood by many people and may even confuse a reader. It only takes them a second to pass over an ad because it doesn't seem clear, why let it be yours because you abbreviated a description?

THE BOTTOM LINE

State the price. You'll save yourself the hassle of having to answer calls from prospects who, upon learning the price, are not really interested. Price is the first thing they'll look for when reading your ad, and when prospects know the price, you'll know you have a serious buyer on the line.

BE THERE

List the best hours to call and make sure you're at home. If you don't list a specific time, you could be flooded with calls any time of the day or night. And when you're not at home to take calls, most likely, they won't call back.

ASK US

If you aren't sure how to word your ad or what features to include, why not ask us? Our professionals on staff know how to create an effective ad that sells, they're always willing to help, and there's no charge!

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Many of the country inns of America, which dot our landscape from coast to coast, enjoy a well-deserved reputation for delicious food. Many more of them than we realize have been serving up their fine food for many years, some for several decades and others for more than a century!

"Arm chair traveling" my way across America and researching tasty meals at various inns, I'm enjoying to the fullest the book "The Great Country Inns of America" by James Stroman (Bob Adams, Inc., Publishers; Holbrook, Mass., soft-cover). Subtitled "Select Recipes from Famous American Inns," this book more than lives up to its title.

The author, a self-confessed veteran inn-goer and traveler, treats us not only to a number of great recipes from these great country inns, but also gives fascinating bits of the history of each inn, with many illustrations. Some of the inns are on the National Historic Register, others are contemporary structures.

Some inns started as "public houses" or taverns, a welcome and refreshing stop for travelers in long-ago days. Some were way stations for stage coaches. Others, from plantation houses of the Southland to Victorian mansions of the West Coast, began existence as family dwellings. All are of interest.

But, you needn't wait until you can make a trip cross-country. One of the greatest of the country inns is quite close, Cedar Grove Mansion in Vicksburg, in our own state of Mississippi, is one of the South's finest mansions. Confederacy President Jefferson Davis danced in its fine ballroom; and a Union cannonball remains to this day lodged in the parlor wall! A favorite with visitors and locals alike, is this tasty appetizer:

HOT CRAB-CHEESE CANAPES

1/2 cup Old English Sharp Cheddar Cheese
1/2 cup butter or margarine
6 oz. crabmeat (may use canned)

1 Tblsp. mayonnaise
1 tsp. lemon pepper
1 tsp. garlic salt
1 tsp. seasoned salt
Dash Worcestershire sauce
Dash Worcestershire sauce

Cut the cheese and butter or margarine into pieces and place in the bowl of a food processor along with the crabmeat, mayonnaise and seasonings. Blend until smooth. Split the muffins and spread with the mixture.

Cut each split muffin into 4 or 6 wedges and heat under the broiler until warm. You may also freeze the wedges until needed and broil them without thawing first. (Makes 8 or 12 dozen).

(Or, simply blend together in bowl instead of using processor. Wooden spoons and whisks work quite well.)

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Have you come "down to earth" yet, after all the holiday feasting? Many of us have, and the New Year's resolutions are flying fast all around, a large number dealing with "more healthful eating." Well, that's easy—just take a tour around our area supermarkets and farmers' markets, and you'll find everything you need for better eating in this still-new New Year!

And much of that at good, good prices, a boon to the overworked and overstepped holiday budget as well! With the ever-uncertain wintry weather and the "glooms" of January, our thoughts turn to "rib-sticking" menus of thick hearty bean or other soups, potato dishes, pasta and so forth, which nourish the body at the same time as they bolster the anemic food budget.

Those perennial budget boosters, chicken leg-quarters, are offered at special prices these days; and the breast quarters are also specially priced. Beef briskets are a good buy, as are beef chuck roasts and steaks. Fresh pork shoulders and assorted pork chops, along with beef bottom round steaks also offer good eating at good prices.

Fresh vegetables and fruits are good buys.

As chuck roast is an especially good buy, that's my choice. I like to "buy it big, cook it small" in chuck roasts. I cut part of the chuck into cubes, reserving a piece for soup or "boiled (simmered) beef" and using the middle section for a pot roast with onions and potatoes and carrots and various seasonings.

You might want to try this ever-so-easy:

MEXICAN BEEF STEW
1 lb. stew beef, cubed
Flour for dredging
3 Tblsp. oil or fat
4 potatoes, cubed
4 small onions, chopped coarsely
4 carrots, diced
1 tsp. or more chili powder
1/4 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. pepper

Dredge the beef in the flour (by putting beef and flour in a paper bag or other bag and shaking well together). Brown the meat in the oil or fat, and cover with water. Add the vegetables and the seasonings, cover and simmer for an hour and a half or until tender. (It's better if it sits awhile for flavors to blend. (4 servings)

Make-A-Wish helps ailing children

Last year the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Mississippi granted 31 wishes across the state of Mississippi. The average cost of a wish is $2,400.

The Foundation grants wishes to children who suffer from a life threatening illness that creates the possibility they will not surpass their 18th birthday.

Currently 25 children are in the process of having a wish granted.
